Lithuania - most important trading partner in the Baltics

Lithuania 12th largest market for passenger cars

The Netherlands exports a vast range of products to the Baltic region. Lithuania is an important customer of Dutch transport equipment, including tractive units for semi-trailers, and passenger cars. Total passenger car exports amounted to 4.5 billion euros in 2021. Lithuania holds a 1.4-percent share in Dutch passenger car exports, making it the 12th largest purchaser of passenger cars in terms of export sales volume. The export package for Estonia is dominated by chips and semiconductor devices. Latvia was primarily a customer of flowers and plants, medicines, fruits, chips and semiconductor devices, and mobile telephone equipment. Approximately half of all goods exports to the Baltic states concern re-exports, mainly of telephone equipment, chips, medicines and electrical machines. The majority of the flowers and plants, passenger cars and other motor vehicles that are exported to the Baltic states are produced in the Netherlands.

Eneco variable gas prices now below national price cap

Energy company Eneco is now also going to charge less for gas than the government's price cap. A group of customers who will receive a new variable rate in May will then pay less than the maximum set by the government. In April, Eneco, one of the largest energy suppliers in the Netherlands, was already able to charge lower electricity rates.

BUSINESS HOUSING MARKET DE HYPOTHEKER MONDAY, 3 APRIL 2023 - 08:32

More signs that Dutch housing market is recovering:

The Dutch housing market is showing more signs of recovering, De Hypotheker reported. The number of mortgage applications to purchase a home increased by 10 percent in the first quarter of 2023 compared to the previous quarter, Het Financieele Dagblad reports.

When looking at the figures for Q1 2022, it is clear that the housing market is not yet recovered, however. A year ago, mortgage applications were 52 percent higher. The sharp decrease is mainly due to a huge fall in the number of mortgage applications for refinancing, -92 percent.

Lithuania: a space hub on the rise

New capabilities and countries in European Space Conference

22-24 May 2023 | ESA-ESTEC, Noordwijk, The Netherlands

Big potential

Lithuania has 200.000 high-tech professionals, of which 43% are STEM-related. The country invests a lot in education and has a world-leading production of short-pulse lasers. Half of the companies in Lithuania's space industry has a growth rate of a whopping 50%, despite the fact that the country became an ESA member in 2021 and its space policy is only two years old. Almost all space related activities and businesses are located in and around Vilnius, which is where the space hub will be situated. Furthermore, the country's ambitions aren't limited to the space industry by any means. Putting Lithuania on the map as a serious exporter of sustainable energy through wind turbines and hydrogen is also on the agenda.

Lithuania at The Space Week 2023

Even though Lithuania has only just started with their space industry, its ambitions are high and its openness and directness to collaborate and learn from other space hubs and communities are inspiring. By opening an ESA BIC programme this year, Lithuania's space hub will be directly joining our space community. With their ambitions to collaborate cross-sectoral and across Europe, they have expressed their interest to join The Space Week 2023 to network and meet more of the Dutch space industry.
